Thanksgiving Nuptials.

(From Brintree News of Nov. 24.)
On Thursday evening, surrounded by a bank of chrysanthemums, ferns, pink and white, beneath a marriage dais of white, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus J. Dyer, stood Miss Crosby Dyer, with her hand in that of Noah Francis Stowell who were joined in the holy bonds of wedlock, for better or worse so long as they should live, by Rev. C. P. Hill, Crutcher, of the South Congregational Church.
They entered the luxuriant parlor to strains of a wedding march played by Miss Beattie Leonard. Miss Annie May Crosby officiated as bridesmaid and was dressed in a white and blue gown with blue, white, the bride wore a white and blue gown with white silk with mousseline de soie and carried a beautiful bouquet of appropriate flowers. Ellis Freeman Dyer acted as best man, and the ushers were Arthur Packard and Harlow Waite, of South Brintree, and Arthur Stowell and Winifred Joy of South Weymouth. The presents were numerous and costly, among which was a handsome piano from the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Charlotte Crosby.
After the ceremony a reception was held and refreshments served. About one hundred and fifty were present, including guests from Cambridge, Andover, Melrose, Weymouth and Randolph.
The happy couple were to leave by train for their bridal tour and their numerous young friends, as is usually the case, desiring to add to the auspicious of the newly wedded, attempted and carried out an "antique and horrible" decoration of the conveyance they were supposed to occupy, thus locking the front door so that not even the guests could depart by that entrance, they awaited the departure of the bride and groom. It is said they had an hour to wait, and finally what was the chagrin of these precious friends (7) to see the happy pair swiftly driving away in another black limousine, for the occasion minus decorations. Rice and old slippers followed them, but they were out of the reach of harm, and now their friends are wondering where they have gone.
They announce that they will be at home however, at their residence on Front Street, South Weymouth, until the first of January, 1899, when these enthusiastic friends will be privileged to congratulate them on their lucky escape.

TUFTS LIBRARY.

Art Exhibition—Venice.

Persons interested in travel and in the painting, sculpture, and architecture that may be seen in that wonderful city will enjoy the exhibition to be held in Tufts Library from Dec. 12-24. These photographs, some of them over two hundred in number, of scenes in Venice, noted buildings, famous paintings and statues will furnish an opportunity for the lover of art, and of travel to take a trip through that beautiful city, to learn of its unique position situated upon many islands and its history and life of today. It is especially interesting to any of these subjects remember to visit the library during this time. This exhibition has been a great success at the public libraries in many of the large towns and cities, the Malden public library having more than 1,500 visitors during the two weeks that the photographs were hung there.

Monday Club.

At the last regular meeting of the club held on November 24th, Miss Lucy G. Wheelock lectured on "The Culture of Miss Wheelock has an easy, fascinating manner of speaking and her lecture was much enjoyed.
Miss Addie Howard of Hingham, accompanied by Miss Prida very kindly, rendered two vocal solos.
The "daughter's" afternoon," which was held at Fogg's Opera House on Saturday afternoon, brought out a large crowd of daughters, guests and members. Although a new venture for the club, its success was as great as to warrant a repetition another year. The entertainment consisted in scenes from Dickens and Bulwer-Lytton. The parts were taken as follows:
DORNEY AND SON.
Name Polly. Miss H. B. Reed.
Susan Nipper. Miss Gertrude Bates.
Florence Dombey. Marion Trickett.
Mrs. Chick. Mrs. Walter Field.
Miss Fox. Miss Helen Rockwood.
LAST DAYS OF POMPEII.
Name Julia. Miss Grace Mitchell.
Nylia. Mrs. Pratt.
"BLACK HOUSE."
Mrs. Jellyby. Miss Catherine.
Caddy Jellyby. Miss Grace.
Esther Summerson. Miss Pinkham.
Light refreshments were served at the conclusion of the entertainment.

Obituary—Mrs. Jarvis B. Lincoln.

Another of those links which connect the present with the past, in the history of one of the oldest families of Weymouth, was severed in the death of Mrs. Jarvis B. Lincoln, which took place at her home on Commercial street in East Weymouth last Saturday.
Deceased was a daughter of David Pratt and was born in Middle street in January, 1822. She married Jarvis B. Lincoln, who passed away several years ago, and for more than half a century has spent a quiet, typical New England life at her home on Commercial street.
Prof. Charles W. Lincoln, of Boston, David P. Lincoln and Miss Hattie Lincoln, sons and daughter of deceased, are, with several grandchildren, surviving members of the family.
Mrs. Lincoln was one of the oldest members of the Old North Church and has always taken a deep interest in its affairs. Rev. E. R. Kendall of the above church officiated at the funeral which was held at the home on Tuesday and paid a beautiful tribute to the sterling qualities of her whose departure they all mourned.
A quartette composed of LaForest Lincoln, Miss Eva Sherman, Mr. Harry M. Smith and Charles G. Cowing rendered selections appropriate to the occasion and the remains were placed in the family tomb at the Old North cemetery.

SAD DEATHS AT SEA.

Of Mrs. A. S. Chickering and Mrs. E. A. Wheeler, Two Weymouth Women.

They Were on the Ill-Fated Steamer Portland, Which Was Wrecked on Cape Cod.

There is more than the usual sadness and pathos in the story of the loss of the Steamer Portland, on Sunday morning when she drove on the rocks off Cape Cod. The city ladies have been full of the details, or rather lack of details, for no one survives to tell how the steamer was lost nor how nor how many were the ill-fated victims doomed to an unknown death off those rocky shores where the Mayflower first landed in 1620 but found the rocks and cliffs too inhospitable for even her poor storm weary mariners.

Weymouth people have had a thrilling interest in the fate of the Portland from the first hour of doubt as to her safety because it was known that two Portland ladies had intended to go to Portland in that steamer on Saturday night.

Mrs. Abbie Seletia Chickering of Weymouth, and Mrs. E. A. Wheeler of South Weymouth were sisters and were on their way to attend the funeral of another sister, Miss Mary F. Loring of Auburn, Me., when called to the presence of their maker in an unexpected manner.

NEW ORGAN.

The Church of the Sacred Heart For.

Last Friday evening an audience of about 500 gathered in the beautiful auditorium of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Weymouth, to hear the organ which had been built for the church by Jesse Woodbury & Co. of Boston at a cost of $2500.

John Hermann Lord, of Springfield, formerly of Weymouth, and pupil for a time of Guilmain in Paris, had been engaged to give the people their first introduction to the organ and he did it well, rendering a varied program with rare skill.

The organ is a particularly pleasant toned instrument, was in perfect tune and pleased everyone. The following was the program:

Toccata in E major. Homer Bartlett.
Lamentation. Alexandre Guilmant.
Tone Picture, "The Holy Night."
"Ave Maria."
Soprano Solo. Miss Nellie M. Donovan.
A Question. Miss Nellie M. Donovan.

Prélude and Fugue in C major. S. S. Salustiano.
Tenor Solo. Miss Nellie M. Donovan.
"Song Without Words." David L. Lemaire.
Two Posthumous Works. Mendelssohn.
A. Andante with variations.

Allegro in B flat.
Miss Nellie M. Donovan of Weymouth surprised us by her pure, strong and sweet soprano voice. We liked her singing particularly well.

Mr. J. Murphy of Boston, the tenor soloist, sang well and was heartily enjoyed.

The occasion was a success, netting about $100 profit to the church.

Rev. Father Holland in particular, and the church society in general are to be congratulated upon at last having a nice organ to roll forth its sweet notes in all their services.

Change of R. Service.

Commencing on Monday, December 5th, the Wabash R. R. will inaugurate a line of Tourist Sleeping cars between St. Louis and Los Angeles, California, leaving St. Louis at 10:30 p. m. This is a good winter route for California, as it avoids the cold and snow of more northerly routes. Further details and timetables can be had at the New England Agency of the Wabash R. R. No. 5, State Street, Boston, Mass.

The Kidney Complication.

The pale, sallow, sunken-cheeked, distressed-looking people you so often meet, who are afflicted with "Kidney Complication." Their kidneys are turning to a purplish color. So is their complexion.

They may have indigestion, or suffer from sleeplessness, rheumatism, neuralgia, brain trouble, nervous exhaustion and sometimes the heart acts badly.

The cause is weak, unhealthy kidneys. Usually the sufferer from kidney disease does not find out what the trouble is until they find it too late, because their symptoms are so like mild sickness that they do not think they need a medicine or a doctor until they find the trouble is so bad.

Dr. Killeen's Swamp-Root will build up and strengthen their weak and diseased kidneys, purify their blood, clear their complexion and soon they will enjoy better health.

You can get the regular size at the drug store, at fifty cents and one dollar, or you may first prove for yourself the wonderful virtues of this great discovery, Swamp-Root, by sending your card to Dr. Killeen & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent to you absolutely free by mail.

When writing kindly mention that you read this liberal offer in this paper.

As application of best made to the department to make post office by which means foreign money orders may be issued at the office.

of thirteen. She consulted Mrs. Wheeler and they decided to stay for Maine that evening on the Steamer Portland. Mr. Chickering was away when they started, or he would have had them go by train. Mrs. Chickering and Mrs. Wheeler were natives of Turner, Me., and were sisters of Daniel Laro, one of Maine's prominent citizens.
Mrs. Chickering was the wife of G. O. Chickering of Weymouth and was 54 years of age. Her daughters are suddenly bereaved of a dear mother and they and their saddened father have the heartfelt sympathy of their friends and of the whole community.
Mrs. Wheeler was the widow of Elijah Wheeler and had lived a short time in South Weymouth. She was 52 years of age. Three daughters and a son are left to mourn, and these bereaved ones who have felt this sudden sorrow fall heavily upon them, have also our tender sympathy.
Mr. Chickering went to the cape yesterday and identified the body of Mrs. Wheeler, but up to the present time writing the body of Mrs. Chickering has not been found.

AT DAUGHTER'S WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Blanchard of South

Weymouth Celebrate Their Silver Anniversary.

In Old Fellows' Hall, South Weymouth, last Saturday evening, was celebrated the 25th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Blanchard, and the same time their daughter, Miss Helen F. Blanchard, was married to Mr. Nelson J. Gay.

The hall was elaborately decorated with ferns, evergreens and potted plants. About 200 persons were present, among them being friends from Weymouth, Hingham, Rockland, Abington and Hobbok.

There was also present a large number of members of Wilsey lodge 21, I. O. O. F., and Abigail Adams Rebekah lodge 9, I. O. O. F. Mr. Blanchard being a past noble grand of Abigail Adams Rebekah lodge.

At 8 o'clock the marriage of Mr. Gay and Miss Blanchard was solemnized. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. W. Atwood of the Universalist Church.

The bride was given away by her father, Mrs. Lawrence A. Blanchard, and the same time their daughter, Miss Helen F. Blanchard, was married to Mr. Nelson J. Gay.

GREAT DECEMBER SUBSCRIPTION OFFER.

GOOD TILL JANUARY 1st,

OF THE

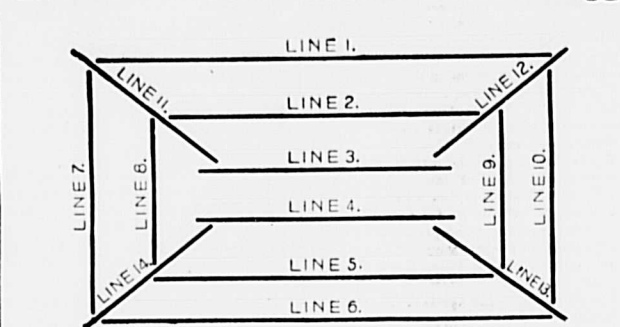

Weymouth and Brintree Publishing Co.

VALUABLE PRIZES TO THOSE WHO MEASURE THE LINES.

To Subscribers In Arrears.

During the continuance of this offer subscribers who are in arrears for this paper, may pay their arrears and provided they pay for another year in advance at the regular rate, will be entitled to make a guess on the length of the lines in the chart.

MEASURE THE LINES.

To New Subscribers and Those Who Are Paid Up.

While this offer continues all those whose subscriptions are paid to either December 1, 1898, or January 1, 1899, may pay for another year in advance, or two years if they desire. This payment entitles the subscriber to guess on the length of the lines in the chart.

NEW SUBSCRIBERS Who pay two dollars will receive this paper until January, 1899, and may also send in a guess on the lines and compete for the prizes for the best measurements.

List of Prizes For Correct or Nearest Correct Guesses.

First Prize, - $20.00 in Gold
Second Prize, - 10.00 in Gold
Third Prize, - 5.00 in Gold
Fourth Prize, - 2.50 in Gold
Fifth Prize, - 2.50 in Gold
Prizes Six to Fifteen, 1.00 Each

And to Every One who takes advantage of this offer before Jan. 1st, 1899, will be awarded 50 cents, which will be credited on their subscriptions by dating them as paid three months beyond.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR MEASURING THE LINES.

Measure each line separately and write the measurement plainly after the corresponding number in the blank at the bottom of this page.

After measuring the lines separately give the total length of all the lines. Do not write in but once, cut out the blank and mail or bring it to this office after properly filling it out.

The official measurement printed on a card and duly certified to by a committee will be presented to him who wish it and will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Every line is numbered. Each line measured will count for as many points for the subscriber as the number of the line. For instance, if line No. 3, is measured right it will count one point; line No. 2, two points; line No. 3, three points; and so on. The combined length of the lines, if measured correctly, will count 100 points, which is the total of all the numbers of the lines. The subscriber who gets the greatest number of points will receive first prize, and the next greatest the second prize and so on. If no one gets it correct the results will be considered in accordance with the nearest correct guesses.

HOW TO TELL WHAT YOU OWE.

The date on the label of your paper will indicate how far you are in arrears. Figure from that date to December 1, 1898, at the rate of two dollars a year, or cents a month. This will give you the amount to pay on your arrears, then pay one year in advance also.

REMEMBER THE TERMS.

(1) All those in arrears may settle for the amount actually due to December 1, by paying in addition, two dollars for another year in advance. This entitles each one so paying to guess on the lines.
(2) All those who have paid to December 1, 1898, or to later date, may advance their subscriptions still further at the rate of $2.00 a year for not more than two years. Every one taking advantage of this offer may submit a guess on the lines.
(3) NEW SUBSCRIBERS who pay one year's subscription at $2.00 a year will be entitled to a guess on the lines.

East Weymouth, 4, Plymouth 3, Thursday

November 24.
No admission was charged upon Thursday evening and about 500 people saw the home team defeat the Plymouths 4 to 3 in an over time game. The line up:
East Weymouth Plymouth
Dawson 1 r. Nicholson
Keller 1 r. Mercer
Gendreau 1 r. Warren
Harlow 1 r. Janelle
Mullen 1 r. Adams

The summary of the game:
rush goal ball caged time
by Dawson E. W. Gendreau 5:30
Dawson P. Mercer 5:30
Nicholson P. Nicholson 11:30
Nicholson P. Mercer 1:30

Score: East Weymouths, 4; Plymouths, 3. Steps in goal, Adams 40, Mullen 45, Timmer, Liversy, Referee, Blanchard, Attendance 500.

The game was hard fought from start to finish. The East Weymouths were defeated by the same team in the afternoon at Plymouth, and, in the evening anxious to even up matters, went on the floor to win and in consequence the game proved to be the fastest game as yet.

The East Weymouths were in fine trim, Mullen playing a gill-edged game, goal making many fine stops, especially when the loss of a goal meant defeat. In the last period, with the score 3 to 1 against them, it appeared that they were to be again beaten, at this time, a new impetus was given to the team when Dawson with the two minutes and twenty seconds remaining to play, made two goals which tied the score, and several minutes elapsed before the Plymouths could get another goal, and in eleven minutes over time, by hard playing, Dawson made the goal which made the team victors.

The Plymouths played well but could not score enough times against the East Weymouths to win.

About 100 pool shooters were on the floor Thanksgiving Day.

East Weymouths, 9; Tauntons, 0. SATURDAY NOV. 26.
The East Weymouths won the game from the Tauntons easily, near the end of the second period, with the score 6 to 0 against the Tauntons. Daley broke his skate and did not play the rest of the game and his team finished the game with 4 men, the East Weymouths scored only three times against them in the last period. The line up:
East Weymouths Tauntons
Lincoln 1 r. Mager
Keller 1 r. Daley
Gendreau 1 r. Moran
Harlow 1 r. Hawkin
Mullen 1 r. Fowler

Daniel Beals, of West Lebanon, Wayne county, O., is on his wedding tour just now with the woman whom he courted 40 years ago. At that time Miss Elizabeth Buchwalter, of the same place, considered one of the handsomest young women of the town, who became the affianced of Daniel Beals, the son of a wealthy farmer. Because of religious differences on the part of the parents Beals did not keep his engagement. He left her and went to the city.

Three years ago, says the Chicago Chronicle, Miss Buchwalter's home was entered by three masked men, who beat her terribly in an effort to make her tell where her money was secreted. She was taken to the city and confined in Mount Eaton—John J. Schaffly, justice of the peace; Simon Schaffly and Louis Klein were indicted and after a sensational trial were acquitted. The three men brought suit against Miss Buchwalter for $5,000 damages for false arrest. Mr. Beals offered his assistance to mount down the offenders, but it was largely through his efforts that Miss Buchwalter won the only one of the three damage suits that has been tried, although the jury gave the plaintiff a verdict assessing his damages at one dollar.

Through his efforts in her behalf the old love was rekindled, a new engagement followed and the couple were married a short time ago.

SERGEANT O'KEEFE'S PIPE.

It Was Shot Out of His Mouth at Santiago Much to the Amusement of His Comrades.

"Well, sir," said Corporal Grady, "I don't think you should have happened before Santiago was the last of Sergeant O'Keefe's pipe. You see, in our forced march to the front most of our men had their pipes with them, and with our kits went pipes and tobacco. O'Keefe, however, had his in his pocket, and after we got in position they were waiting orders, the sergeant pulled out his pipe and tobacco and soon was enjoying a fine smoke. Then the rest of us began to look for our pipes. We found them all right, but the sergeant's pipe was gone. We were lying in the grass to keep out of the way of Spanish bullets, and he was sitting there with his pipe in his mouth. We saw him swallow it, and he was laughing at us. We were lying in the grass to keep out of the way of Spanish bullets, and he was sitting there with his pipe in his mouth. We saw him swallow it, and he was laughing at us.

GOING INTO THE BATTLE.

Beginning of the Fight on San Juan Hill—Fighting a Hidden Enemy.

Troops were standing everywhere, lying all about, moving regularly up the hill. The first to strike was a small band of men who were going quietly. I would my way along with them, saying: "Gangway, please," writes Frederic Remington in Harper's Magazine. War, states at the time, the French Canadian men looked at me when I went down to the village after that.

"My dear," she said, "I would not wonder a bit if you have really solved the mystery."

"I believe those men were humbugging me," she said. "They were only trying to get me sure of it," said the old one.

ROYAL ALIASES.

Names Under Which Kings and Queens Travel When "Incognito."

Strange as it may seem, even kings and queens sometimes get tired of their titles and try to escape observation by using what in the case of more ordinary persons would be called an alias. Of course, it is difficult, if not impossible, for a king or queen to travel in disguise, but the monarchs of Europe have found a way to escape observation by using what in the case of more ordinary persons would be called an alias.

ANTIDOTE FOR A SOLDIER.

Young Women Exchange Confidence on a Cure for Fondness for an Army Man.

They were at the first matinee after the return from the summer in different places, reports the New York Sun. They were exchanging confidences. "What sort of a looking man is he?" asked one.

"Oh, tall and thin, handsome and smooth-faced."

"Indeed, he is. He wears evening dress every night, whether he is going to a party or not."

"Does he say 'beard' or 'thin'?"

"Always says 'beard,' and carries his handkerchief in his sleeve."

"How was he broad once, and I heard that he took a cold bath every morning, whether the weather was hot or freezing?"

"Indeed, you know him very well. You lucky girl! He must be a regular swell."

"And he wears his trousers turned up, whatever the weather is."

"You lucky girl! Can't you bring him around to call Sunday? I'd like Clara to see him. She's so stuck up about that soldier of hers, who never got any nearer the fighting than Tambo."

Learning the Points of the Campaign. Col. Smith, of the First regiment of California volunteers, tells a story of one of the recruits at the Presidio.

"This is an Irishman and he was doing grandly. 'Do you know him, gentlemen?' asked the colonel. 'Yes, sir.' 'If you face the rising sun, your left hand would be on the north of you and your right hand to the south of you. What would be behind you?'"

"Me canteen, sir."

Managers and Editors:

A. V. BLANCHARD, M. E. HAWES.

TERMS: $2.00 per year.

Advertisements inserted at the usual rates.

Correspondence and items of news are solicited from all readers of the Gazette. Every one who sends interesting facts or happenings that would be of interest to the community is assured of a place in the paper.

While we have an efficient corps of regular contributors, there is much of interest in the nature of things that cannot be put in our paper and which we are glad to print in your own paper.

Entered at the post office at Weymouth, Mass., as second-class matter.

FRIDAY, DEC. 30, 1898.

Are you practicing with the figures 1892?

The old year has been one of many blessings and comfort, give it a kind goodbye and welcome the new with open arms.

We thank our many readers and business patrons for the favors of the year about to close and wish them all a happy 1899.

On Tuesday evening the full moon was eclipsed and all eyes were turned heavenward to watch the phenomenon. A reddish shade seemed to cover the silver moon and we were astonished to see how small the moon appeared while thus obscured.

Christmas of 1898 will long be remembered by the United States as having a great and appreciable gift in the Peace Treaty which was handed to President McKinley on Christmas eve, Dec. 24, by Commissioner Day who had just arrived from Paris.

Tuition Library.

The library will be closed as usual on Monday Jan. 2 for the examination of the books. The new bulletin to be issued early in January will contain nearly fifty volumes not heretofore advertised.

Presentation.

The Weymouth Historical society was recently presented by Captain Zevah W. Torrey of the U. S. 6th Infantry with a sword that was presented to the battlefield in front of the San Juan Block House at the "Bloody Angle" where the fight was the most severe.

It is an American sword and was found on the ground passed over by the 6th Infantry on Jan. 21, 1898. This is therefore a genuine relic of the Cuban War of 1898.

Historical.

Firmen's Annual.

The annual ball of the Weymouth Firemen's Relief Association will be held at the skating rink, East Weymouth, Feb. 10. Arrangements are being perfected, and an up-to-date affair is promised, which will make it even a greater success than last year.

Keith's Theatre.

Louise Thornley-Boucault will be the star attraction at Keith's for the week of Jan. 2. She will appear in the latest play entitled "A Proper Propriety," and will be supported by Howard Kyles. The piece was acted at Keith's a couple of years ago by Frederic Bryton and Grace Pitkin, and was then credited to Augustus Thomas. Although it was considered by the majority of critics one of the best dramatic pieces ever offered in the theatre, it has not been played since that time. Any Lee who enjoys the distinction of being considered one of the cleverest comedians on the stage, will appear in a sketch that will give her ample opportunity to display her versatility as an impersonator of old characters. Miss Lee is a great favorite with the theatre goers, and even Louie, in her native day, was never more enthusiastically received than when she appeared in this play.

Caraway seeds are grown for the market in many parts of Europe and South England.

The cinnamon tree grows to a height of 20 to 30 feet. It is believed to be a native of Ceylon.

The cinnamon gardens of Ceylon have been the scene of a great deal of business for some time past.

Josh Billings' Philosophy.

A snob is a private party who overestimates himself and underestimates others. The man who has no physical courage has but very little moral courage. The man who is not a snob is a snob.

Weymouth Heights.

Once more the Old North church is called to mourn for one of its older members. Miss Elizabeth Bennett who died on Monday evening after a short illness. Her funeral was attended at her late residence on Commercial street on Thursday afternoon, Rev. E. R. Kendall officiating.

The chapel of the Old North church was crowded at the Christmas tree on Saturday evening and the Christmas season was observed. There were recitations and songs by the children and on account of the disappearance of the sleighing Old Santa Claus came on a bicycle to distribute the presents from the tree. There were a present and candy and an orange for each one and it is a pity that the friends that the Old North can muster so many children. The church was prettily dressed with evergreen for the Sunday service and the choir under direction of Samuel Nash sang in their usual pleasing manner a special program of music arranged for the occasion. Mrs. Bennett, soprano, Miss Sherman, contralto; C. C. Nash, tenor; Chas. Loring, bass. Miss Flint organist. Mrs. Bennett and Miss Sherman each had a solo and Miss Sherman sang solo at the concert in the evening.

Sunday School concerts are never largely attended by friends at the Old North but the children were in full force Sunday evening and a pleasant concert was given with singing and recitations by the children, singing by the choir and an address by the pastor. Altogether Christmas was a success at the Old North for which much credit is due to the faithful work of efficient committees and the kindness of the choir. The committee on the tree was Mrs. Cummings, Mrs. Wallace Bicknell, Miss Evelyn Blanchard and Miss Hunt. The committee on the concert was the teachers of the primary department, Mrs. Kendall, Miss Hunt and Mrs. Cummings.

Miss Mary Humphrey and Prof. J. O. Thompson are at home for the Christmas season.

Miss Marion Lincoln, daughter of Prof. Charles Lincoln of Dorchester, was married on Wednesday evening to Louis Mayley Cal. Several friends from the Heights were present at the wedding in the Second church.

Yemen and Mrs. Bolles who have been for some weeks at Portsmouth were at home for Christmas. Mrs. Bolles was obliged to return immediately to his ship as they are under orders to sail at Port Royal. Mrs. Bolles will remain here for the present.

TUFTS FREE COURSE.

Frank E. Robertson at Pilgrim Church.

Subject—Japan.

At the Pilgrim Church North Weymouth Friday evening, Frank E. Robertson

gave an interesting lecture on "Japan."

A large and appreciative audience was present and as Mr. Robertson is an enthusiast of the Japanese people, his presentation was an unusually happy reception. The views were excellent and there was a not a dull moment in the entire lecture.

Right here it may not be out of place to mention the fact that a large number of boys under twelve years of age and unaccompanied by parent or guardian were present and conducted themselves in such a manner as to make it necessary for Mr.

Robertson to pause and deliver a public reprimand several times during the evening.

We trust this will not be repeated.

Mr. Robertson lectures at the Pilgrim Church

Monday, February 7th on the "Philippines."

Food For Thought.

There are some figures and facts that are always interesting to read and which are of great value to the community.

The United States Government is shown by its figures that it is spending 100 cubic inches of leavening gas each year, a much greater amount than was used in any other power.

The alum powder was shown to yield about 100 cubic inches of gas each year.

It is not economy to use the Royal, even though the alum powder should cost

but half as much.

Again, Royal is a pure cream of tartar baking powder, recommended by health officers and physicians because of health reasons. It is rendered more digestible and healthful.

Alum baking powders are condemned by physicians and boards of health as unwholesome.

Their continued use will eventually cause serious digestive troubles.

Therefore there is both health and economy in the use of the Royal. It is not only pure, but it is also the most economical of the food being at stake, that you should reject the injurious and employ the healthful one.

One Good Habit.

When the whole world turns over a new leaf, it seems timely to remind our readers of one habit which we commend: It is the reading of The Boston Herald.

Some of our patrons read The Boston Herald and some of them The Sunday Herald.

We would that all of them read both The Sunday and The Daily Herald. This presentation of the greatest newspaper, the greatest of its record-breaking career. In every department it has made unmistakable advancement. In its making it meets every requirement of the reading public. From the smallest item of local news, to the greatest events of the day it omits nothing and yet in its great pages finds room for stories, incidents and anecdotes, which seem to come from the pen of a novelist.

It is a pleasure to read the Herald and every page is brightened by timely and well-written illustrations. During the past year The Boston Herald has published nearly 100 illustrations. Certainly the reading of The Boston Herald is to be commended. Are you a Herald reader? If not, why not become one today? It is your last chance of the year.

An Important Question.

If your friends or neighbors are suffering from coughs, colds, sore throats, or any throat or lung disease (including consumption), ask them if they have ever used Otto's

Cure. The famous German remedy is a large and here and there is a wonderful cure of throat and lung diseases.

No matter what the ailment, has failed to cure, try Otto's Cure. Large sizes
